REMINDER:

The United States Court of Federal Claims has concluded that agencies only have the discretion to waive informalities and minor irregularities and cannot waive errors that are categorized as material. Because both the statute and VA's regulation make the certification mandatory, it is considered a material requirement and therefore cannot be waived. Similarly, since the provisions state failure to return a completed certification renders an offer ineligible for evaluation – as well as award - and Discussions only occur after a proposal has been evaluated, the omission similarly cannot be corrected through Discussions.
